

WHO CONTROLS EARTH'S FINAL DESTINY?

2 Peter 3:1-14

That which most pollutes our planet is not carbon emissions but the overflow of wickedness coming from the evil hearts of men (Mark 7:21-23). As children of God, we need to see everything through the lens of the inspired Scriptures and not get caught up in the hysteria of our day fueled by sin-blinded men. Man is deluded into thinking that he is able to destroy this planet by emitting too much carbon dioxide, resulting in the supposed extinction of mankind. The power and right to destroy this world belongs only to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

A large portion of humanity will be destroyed by the Lord Jesus at His Second Coming (Rev. 19:11-18). A thousand years later, the present universe will be destroyed by fire: “the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat” (2 Pet. 3:10). “Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away” (Matt. 24:35). Each of us should be good stewards of the environment. Yet man is powerless to produce a perfect environment and idyllic conditions, but God will do this instantly at the onset of the Millennial Kingdom (Isa. 11:1-9). Man-made global warming pales in significance compared to the God-caused heat as will be seen in the fourth vial plague of the tribulation (Rev. 16:8-9). The earth belongs to the LORD (Ps. 24:1), and He takes care of His property. Its climate is in His hands.

How presumptuous for man to think that the destiny and fate of this planet lies in his own power: “I am the master of my fate: I am the captain of my soul” (Invictus).

How much better to trust our life, our future, our destiny, our eternity to the only One who can redeem our souls!

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org

WHO CONTROLS EARTH'S FINAL DESTINY?

2 Peter 3:1-14

That which most pollutes our planet is not carbon emissions but the overflow of wickedness coming from the evil hearts of men (Mark 7:21-23). As children of God, we need to see everything through the lens of the inspired Scriptures and not get caught up in the hysteria of our day fueled by sin-blinded men. Man is deluded into thinking that he is able to destroy this planet by emitting too much carbon dioxide, resulting in the supposed extinction of mankind. The power and right to destroy this world belongs only to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

A large portion of humanity will be destroyed by the Lord Jesus at His Second Coming (Rev. 19:11-18). A thousand years later, the present universe will be destroyed by fire: “the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat” (2 Pet. 3:10). “Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away” (Matt. 24:35). Each of us should be good stewards of the environment. Yet man is powerless to produce a perfect environment and idyllic conditions, but God will do this instantly at the onset of the Millennial Kingdom (Isa. 11:1-9). Man-made global warming pales in significance compared to the God-caused heat as will be seen in the fourth vial plague of the tribulation (Rev. 16:8-9). The earth belongs to the LORD (Ps. 24:1), and He takes care of His property. Its climate is in His hands.

How presumptuous for man to think that the destiny and fate of this planet lies in his own power: “I am the master of my fate: I am the captain of my soul” (Invictus).

How much better to trust our life, our future, our destiny, our eternity to the only One who can redeem our souls!

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org